Editors

Gabriele Molzberger & Hannes Schröter

The editors of ZfW invite researchers in adult and continuing education to publish current research findings in an open issue. With this edition, they aim to highlight ongoing methodological questions and research gaps in the discipline. Contributions that explicitly examine the connections between national and international research on adult education and learning are also welcome. ZfW welcomes studies and contributions from a wide range of theoretical, empirical, or comparative research approaches, whether from a theoretical-systematic or methodological perspective.
